1. Why did you choose this subject? This is probably one of the most important questions you can be asked during a university interview. The interviewers are looking for people who can demonstrate a genuine interest in the subject they're applying for, and will want to know that you've chosen the subject for the right reasons.

Great Ways to Answer 10 Typical University Interview Questions

1. Introduction. Real world problems rarely regard disciplinary boundaries. Research that reflects the integrated nature of societal problems by joining together knowledge and understanding from different disciplines is essential to address the challenges facing society (Carayol and Nguyen Thi, 2005, Jeffrey, 2003, Klein, 1990, Repko, 2008). This is particularly apparent regarding water ...

Mentorship is a relationship in which a more experienced or more knowledgeable person helps to guide a less experienced or less knowledgeable person. The mentor may be older or younger than the person being mentored, but he or she must have a certain area of expertise. It is a learning and development partnership between someone with vast experience and someone who wants to learn.
