Remember that doing anything other than being outside and looking 6 feet away is a neolithic stressor for the eye. When you're in a poor environment with a low quantum yield for light, glasses can become your best protection because they can be constructed to change the light your eye does see when it is alien to our biology.

Oh, Werner von Braun had it all figured out in 1952. In six issues of Collier's magazine he laid out a plan to send men to Luna and Mars. First you build a space ferry as a surface to orbit cargo transport (which was the great-grandfather of the Space Shuttle). Then you use it to make a space station. And it was going to be a beauty of a space station, too.
