11. What is the actual relationship between distance and the force of gravity? (2 points) The force of gravity is inversely proportional to the square of the distance between two objects. See if you can write out the proportions between Mass 1 (m_1), Mass 2 (m_2) distance (r) to the Force of gravity (F_g). (2 points) $F_g \propto \frac{m_1 \cdot m_2}{r^2}$

1. Gravity is a force that can be changed. T/F 2. The more mass an object is, the smaller the force of gravity. T/F 3. As one object gets closer to another object, the force of gravity will increase. T/F 4. The Sun has a greater gravitational force than Jupiter. T/F Circle the Correct Answer

Determination of the Force of Gravity - EduPage

Newton's law says that any moving object will keep moving in a straight line forever unless something forces it to do otherwise. For example, if we threw a ball out into space, it would keep flying in the same direction forever unless something crashed into it or it got caught in the gravity of a planet or star.

This document directs them to PhET where they will be using the gravity force lab. The activity sheet is also meant to direct the students in their learning so that they are confident in what material needs to be understood. However, the values in the data table and answers to the questions need to be completed on a separate sheet of paper.

This lab allows the user to visualise the gravitational force that two objects exert on each other. It is possible to change properties of the objects in order to see how that changes the gravitational force between them. The lab has the following goals: - To relate gravitational force to the masses of objects and the distance between objects.
